Federal Association of Congenital Vasuclar Malformations, Germany

FACAM is an association of patients, relatives, friends and physicians, who engage for better living conditions of patients suffering from vascular anomalies and her families. FACAM designs information opportunities that facilitate the everyday life with the disease in addition to medical care by specialists:

- Regular meetings of patients, physicians and interested people, where information and experiences can be exchanged and common leisure events were offered.
- Advice by telephone, mail, post deployment experiences, helpful addresses or contacts.
- Publishing a “magazine”, website and newsletter.
